MASS GAINER

A mass gainer is a dietary supplement that contains protein, carbs, and perhaps fat to assist in the growth and development of muscle mass.

In simple words, it is a protein powder that will help you meet your calorie intake. Hence, it will nourish you with essential dietary fibres and nutrients. As an outcome, healthy weight gain is promoted. Mass gainers can also be consumed by those who suffer from protein or other nutrient deficiencies. But, it is imperative to take the advice of your dietician or gym instructor.

A mass gainer qualifies to be a meal as it provides all the necessary nutrients. Its primary has the following composition –

- CARBOHYDRATES
- PROTEINS
- FATS

A mass gainer helps you achieve your daily calorie and macronutrient consumption goals. So, you do not have to eat more than you are used to eating.

CREATINE 5000

Professional and amateur athletes at all levels have been known to take creatine supplements to aid their workout routines and improve workout recovery. Creatine creates “quick burst” energy and increased strength, which improves performance but has little effect on aerobic endurance. Most people who use creatine supplements are male athletes and are mostly involved in power sports, such as football, wrestling, hockey and bodybuilding.

KING ENERGY

Psycho King Energy Booster contains BCAAs (Branched-chain amino acids), a group of three essential amino acids: leucine, isoleucine, and valine. These amino acids are grouped together because they are the only three amino acid to have a chain that branches off to one side.

Highlights:

- A group of three essential amino acids: leucine, isoleucine, and valine
- Essential for your diet
- Energy production during exercise
- Regulates blood sugar levels
- Builds muscle proteins
- Reduce damage in exercised muscles

BCAAs are considered essential because, unlike non-essential amino acids, your body cannot make them. Therefore, it is essential to get them from your diet. They present around 35–40% of all essential amino acids present in your body and 14–18% of those found in your muscles.
